2013-05-02 - Pictures of Painting

---

hi friends, here are a few pics of me painting--and some unfinished paintings--for you. one pic shows the painting i worked on at a house which is surrounded on three sides by the apartheid wall erected by Israeli army. and a pic of me painting with the wall behind. as well there are pics of Mar Saba monastery which dates back to byzantine times--, fourth century. amazing place. but because it is just downstream from jerusalem, the stream running below the monastery is full of sewage and other waste from the large city. this destruction of the stream is an abomination. nevertheless, the palestinian guide, hijazi, seen in one pic, offers to take friends and tourists to see the amazing monastery and learn some history. i was fortunate to go yesterday with two other american friends. will write more when i can. love, deb
